Was Not Lover After Marriage

MARTINEZ, Aug. 7.—Florence Bright of Antioch found that Melvin G. Bright the husband was not the same type of a man as Melvin Bright, the lover and sets forth in her divorce suit filed Friday that she separated from him after seven months of married life during which her matrimonial bark sailed rather stormy and turbulent waters. Mrs. Bright charges through her attorney Matthew Ward that her husband struck and beat her cruelly and so severely that she was painfully injured.

Man Is Hurdled 25 Feet As His Ear Hits Wire

MARTINEZ, Aug. 7.—Knowledge of first aid in cases of electricity burns is perhaps all that saved the life Thursday afternoon of A. Langston, Incman in the employ of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. near Danville. Langston, member of a crew engaged in erecting new power lines in the San Ramon valley had finished his work on a pole and detaching his safety belt was descending the pole when his ear came in contact with a "live" wire. He was thrown to the ground, twenty-five feet below, striking a barbed wire fence which broke his fall.

Fellow workmen, believing Langston killed, rushed to his aid and gave such first aid treatment as was possible and which was successful in resuscitating Langston after about a quarter of an hour's strenuous work. The injured man was thereupon rushed in an ambulance to the Martinez hospital where it was reported Friday he would recover.

Langston resides at 2735 Foothill Boulevard, Oakland and has a wife and child who came to Martinez Friday to be with him.

Parked Close To a Hydrant And Paid $5

Salices had come to Richmond to purchase some hardware and expected to leave his car for a moment only, but when he returned he found his machine tagged. He is an employee of the Stauffer Chemical company at Stege.

Charges of parking between the "no parking" sign and the intersection, driving without an operators license, and operating an automobile without a certificate of registration were three other violations committed by Salices. Three charges were not pressed however, as it was explained they had been left at home.

DRAFTED PRIVATES WON MOST OF THE MEDALS FOR VALOR

PRESIDIO, San Francisco, Aug. 7.—Final survey of the Congressional Medal of Honor, America's highest award for military valor, shows that men in the ranks, and especially drafted men in the late war, took the greater part of the honors. Drafted privates and corporals took more than fifty percent of the medals and a good portion went to the "hard-boiled" sergeants.

There is much misunderstanding about the Congressional Medal of Honor. It is the highest award that any American may win, and may be awarded only for some deed performed in the presence of the enemy, "far above and beyond the ordinary call of duty," as most of the citations read. Congress created the award of the medal during the Civil War.

JAPANESE BOY DROWNED IN A SIPHON DITCH

Four-Year-Old Lad Falls Into a Ditch and Is Sucked Into Siphon

Special to the Record-Herald BRENTWOOD, Aug. 7.—Y. Yamasaki, six-year-old Japanese boy of Brentwood, was accidentally drowned in an irrigation canal near his home on August 6.

This was the verdict of the jury at the coroner's inquest held on the body by Coroner C. F. Donnelly, at Brentwood last night.

PLACE DANGEROUS

The jury in the case recommended to the property owner that the conditions of the place where the drowning occurred be investigated, and if possible some means of protection be installed.

No responsibility was placed on the owner of the property as the death was purely accidental.

MARTINEZ, Aug. 7.—Death by drowning befell the four-year-old son of I. Yanishira of Brentwood Thursday evening.

He fell into one of the irrigation ditches of the Brentwood system and was drawn by the suction of the flowing water into a 200 foot long siphon carrying the irrigating water under the Southern Pacific tracks. The body being held by the water at the low point of the siphon, in order to recover the body of the child, the father is employed at the Kirkman nurseries in Brentwood. The remains were taken to the Preston parlors in Antioch.

Resignation Of Weeks Is Again Capital Rumor

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Belief that Secretary of War Weeks will return to Washington for only a short period and will then resign his post in President Coolidge's cabinet became practically a conviction here today with the receipt of reports that he will be guided "by the wishes of his family."

Mrs. Weeks is known to have urged the secretary for some time to resign. She does not care for life in Washington.

LETTER IS BASIS FOR IDENTITY

Victim Said to be Gilbert Warren Barbe, a Wandering Tract Distributor

OFFICERS SATISFIED OF NAME

Identification Is Made By Man From Placerville Who Knew The Man

(By Universal Service)

OAKLAND, Aug. 7.—Identification of the Walnut Creek blast victim as Gilbert Warren Barbe, wounded war veteran and wandering missionary, was made last night by Cecil Barker Placerville undertaker.

The letter was intended for him the Placerville undertaker said.

He hurried to Sacramento with other letters that Barbe had written him recently. Comparing the context, studying the handwriting, Clarence S. Morrill, chief of the State Bureau of Criminal Identification, rendered his verdict:

"Barbe is the man that was murdered!"

CHECKS DESCRIPTION

Barker also checked the description of the charred body. He identified the bit of rope and the oil-soaked blanket as similar to those Barbe carried in a pack.

His description of the wandering missionary's height, build, hair, hands and feet checked almost completely with those of the laboratory blast victim.

OFFICERS SATISFIED

Sheriff Charles Woods, El Dorado county, and Ralph Harrison, deputy sheriff of Contra Costa county, declared after hearing Morrill and Barker that they were convinced the identification of the body had at last been made.

Barker will be taken to San Francisco to view the charred body that lies unknown and unclaimed in the morgue.

Stirred by the almost positive identification officials last night were redoubting their efforts to find Chas. Henry Schwartz, hunted for the murder.

Schwartz did not escape on the Swedish steamship Nordic. A radio received yesterday from the master of the vessel said that a search of the ship failed to reveal any man answering the missing chemist's description in any particular.

Barbe was wounded in service during the World War, and was under treatment in the Hahnemann hospital in San Francisco in October 1921, a search of his effects in Barker's possession showed last night.

His father, aged and invalid, is a minister—the Rev. John Barbe, 105 Locust street, Jersey Shore, Pa. Barker said the itinerant missionary was about 35 or 40 years old, and that he was a graduate of some Eastern university.

He left Placerville last October saying that work in the fields was too hard for him in his condition, and that he was going to "wander around, and let Fate take care of me," the Placerville undertaker declared.

DEATH CAUSED FROM SPLINTER

Septic Infection Resulted From Injury to Finger, Is Verdict

Septic infection, caused from a splinter in his right index finger, resulted in the death of Herbert Milton Waggoner, according to the verdict returned by the jury at the inquest held in Martinez last night by Coroner C. F. Donnelly.

Waggoner died on July 28, just a few days after he had accidentally run a wooden splinter into his hand. The blood poisoning took its toll before anything could be done to save Waggoner's life.

Waggoner was employed with the Santa Fe railroad as a telegraph operator.

Army Gives Aid To Forest Patrol

PRESIDIO, San Francisco, Aug. 7.—Army Air Service officers are co-operating fully with officials of the Department of Agriculture in the Forest Fire Patrols. The Forest Fire Patrol recently crashed a plane upon making a landing, and the Army Air Service has replaced the machine with a new one.

In this season of unusual fire hazards in the forest areas the aerial patrol is invaluable. Countless small fires have been discovered and extinguished before they could gain any headway. Most of the pilots of the fire patrol planes are reserved officers of the Air Service, and are thus getting valuable training which will be of use in case of a national emergency.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

Miss C. J. H. Cowdroy, head mistress of one of the principal schools in London has advanced the all too novel theory that girls who cannot cook, sew, iron and wash clothing are not well educated even though they hold the degrees of all the universities under the sun.

Some educators, according to Miss Cowdroy, want girls to be trained like boys with an eye to their future careers, but since ten out of every eleven women marry, this fact ought to be considered in feminine education.

"I depreciate the view some educationalists hold that a woman can possess far higher qualities than those which go to make a wise wife and mother," said the head mistress. "Some think the clever girls too good for that, the dullards being good enough to continue the race.

"I understand that in some British schools for girls the pupils are divided into two sections, the clever half studying sciences and the dead languages, while the duller girls give their time to cookery and housewifery. I also understand the second set refer to the first as the 'brainy old maids,' so perhaps they are not so dull after all.

"A girl should be proud that she can cook and sew, iron and wash and that she can save some money wisely and well. I hold that a girl who cannot do all these things is not well educated, although she may have been awarded the degrees of all the universities in the world."

In America we hear a great deal nowadays about the flapper and her inefficiency in regard to domestic pursuits. Despite popular belief, however, it is a good bet that the average girl of today is just as capable of evolving into a good housewife and becoming a good parent as was her mother before her.

Modern invention has taken away a great deal of household drudgery which was formerly regarded as inevitable. It has not, however, taken away the domestic and maternal instinct of the modern girl. If given the opportunity and treated right she will perform her part of the bargain.

There is, however, a great deal of food for thought in Miss Cowdroy's remarks on some of the theories of modern education.

WHY RUBBER IS EXPENSIVE

The prices of automobile tires have been advancing rapidly during the past few weeks. The cause we are told, is unprecedented rise in the price of crude rubber which has advanced from 36 cents to $1.15 per pound. The advance is due to the corner on the crude rubber market by the British who control the rubber output of the world.

There have been vehement protests from tire manufacturers and from automobile users. Conferences have been held with a view of remedying the situation. It has been suggested that Americans go into the rubber growing business. This might ultimately bring relief but the trouble is that five or six years must elapse at best, before American crude rubber can be brought into the market.

The reason that America has depended upon British crude rubber is that the British, using native labor could produce it cheaper. According to free trade doctrine the arrangement should have been ideal. But unfortunately it did not work out that way. The cheapest market has become the dearest.

The free traders maintain that we should do the same thing about sugar—buy in the cheapest market. Eliminating the sugar tariff would cut off American production because the Cuban producer could undersell the American producer. But what would happen when the wily Cuban had eliminated all competition? Exactly the same thing that has happened in the rubber situation.

It is human nature to demand the highest price when one has a corner on the market. The only way to prevent being held up is to prevent the corner, and this can best be done by competition—American rubber coming from the Philippines or other points in the tropics would do this just as American sugar is doing it. The cheapest market in the long run may become the highest market if domestic competition is eliminated. The rubber situation proves it.

The United States may win this run war but it won't collect reparations.—Columbia Record.

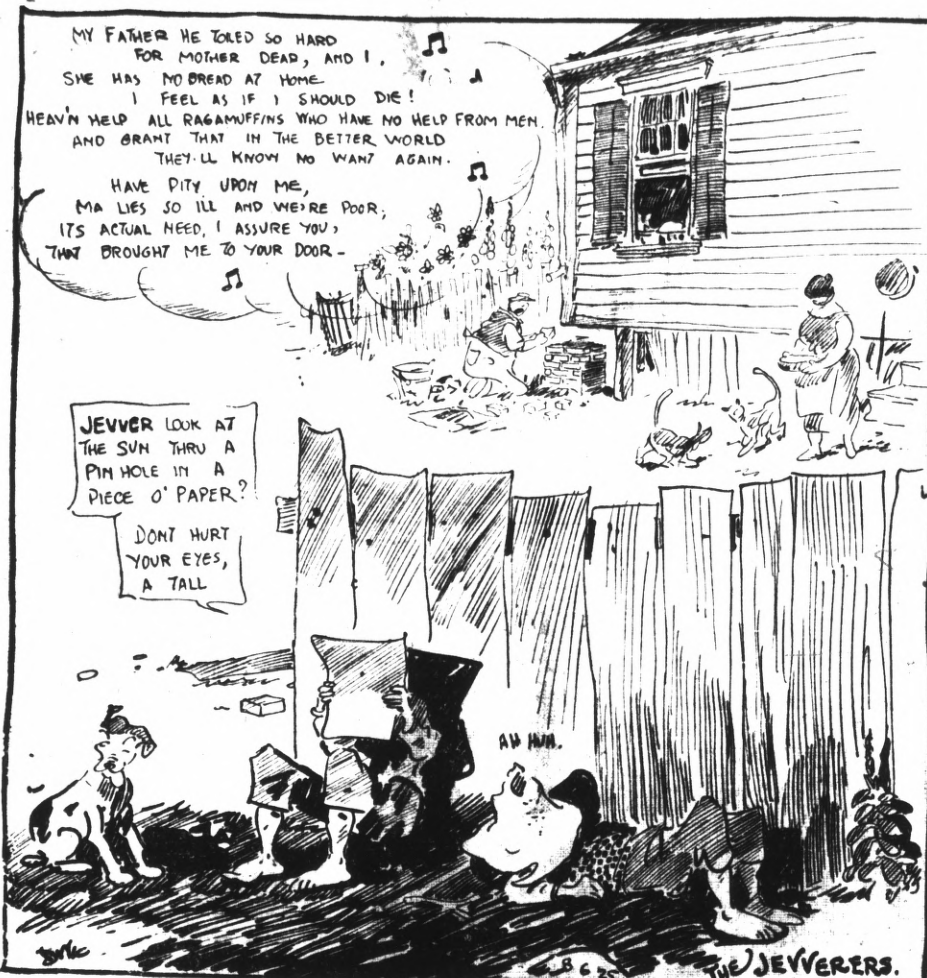

Another reason the soviet takes to propaganda so industriously is that the only equipment absolutely needed is the mouth.—Dallas News.

An American novelist returning from abroad says that there are no flappers on the other side of the Atlantic. Maybe that is what is the matter with Europe.

Anyhow Abd-el-Krim seems to be able to keep his army going without any bond issues or war bonds.

Navy Blue, Garnished With Mauve, Is Wisely Chosen for Early Autumn.

SHADES of blue, it seems, are newer than shades of purple in the list of colors favored by the fashionables in Paris this summer. The purple frenzy started in some what later here than it did in Paris, so that we have held on to it longer. Consequently we have seen less interest in the new shades of blue. But there is every reason to believe that we shall follow the lead of Paris and take up with the new blue shades.

At smart gatherings abroad this summer various shades of blue—hydrangea, horizon, delphinium blue, periwinkle blue, turquoise blue, Lany blue, corn flower, hyacinth—have held prominent place if not pre-eminence. And now that the dressmakers are thinking of frocks for cooler days of autumn we hear more and more of the darker, deeper shades. A shade called commander blue, brighter and more vibrant than navy, is playing an important role in Paris. We have a number of names for it here. One must needs be well versed in color parlance of this day, to know the subtle difference between royal blue and commander blue, pencil blue, indigo and bad blue.

One of the things that has favored the fashion for blue is undoubtedly the fact that at the Exposition in Paris this summer the collections of frocks from several of the well-known French dressmaking houses—notably Callot, Jenny and Worth—were in various shades of blue. Of course, the fact that these important houses chose blue as the medium for their display must have been because that shade gave promise of good favor.

The navy blue frock returns to full applause from countless women who have never ceased to regard this as the smartest color for street wear. As presented by the designers now it is seldom to be worn without the complement of some other color. There is hardly a hue in the rainbow that cannot be worn and worn well with navy. The sketch shows a navy blue frock of the new moulded silhouette. The collar, jabot and ruffles at the wrist are of mauve chiffon, while the hat is of blue velvet with mauve ribbon trimming.

Among French dressmakers who are especially stressing navy blue for autumn are Jenny, Vionnet, Worth and Drecoll.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

MORNING SHOPPING

ONE of the problems that confronts many merchants is that of inducing more women to shop in the morning. In many, many stores you will find a bare sprinkling of customers in the morning, while in the afternoon they are crowded. This makes the work of serving them difficult for the salespeople, difficult too, for the shoppers.

In some stores special inducements are offered to morning shoppers. Certain sales take place only in morning hours and there are special displays and demonstrations in the morning for the sake of attracting the matutinal shopper. The stores that cater to the wants of the so-called highest class are not so troubled. It is a fact that the really smart woman seldom shops in the afternoon. Even though she may not have social duties for the afternoon she is in the habit of doing her shopping in the morning that she would not do otherwise unless she had to. If you, ever want to see the smartest-dressed women and the women of most social distinction at their shopping, just visit the smart shops in the morning. They will have all fled by afternoon.

There are really many, many advantages in morning shopping. For one thing the salespeople have more time to devote to you and they are less tired and consequently better natured and more patient. If you want to avail yourself of a "special sale" of course the time to go is the first thing in the morning for then you have the pick of the offering.

THE LIMITED MAIL

by ELMER E. VANCE

Novel by William Basil Courtney

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros.
"THE LIMITED MAIL" with Monte Blue, is a pictureization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Wilson, a young tramp, has reached Crater City from Granite Gorge, where he prevented the wreck of the Limited on a trestle after a landslide. He now accompanies Jim Fowler, the mail clerk, to the latter's home. Fowler is happy and excited, for he expects to find that he has become a father. A babe is placed in his arms as he enters, but his happiness changes to sorrow when he learns that the youngster has come into the world at the cost of his mother's life.

Bob, with a shrug, turned and set his face to retrace his steps toward the widespread diffusion of light against the night sky on lower land to the east that marked the Crater City railroad yards. There was the pale of him and his social kind on nights like this; he had no business wandering from it.

Now with his mind made up and his steps already retracing their way, Bob glanced back with uneasy curiosity at the man who had tried to befriend him. But he experienced no sense of gratitude; only dogs felt gratitude.

Jim seemed to be moving along a sort of ridge some distance above Bob, and the steady play of lightning against the unobstructed sky beyond the ridge line served to keep his stiffly moving figure in almost constant silhouette. As Bob watched he saw Jim in his trance walk starkly into a tree, stagger back, and fall heavily.

"The poor devil," he muttered, "he hasn't any idea of what he's doing or where he's going. I've got to watch him or he will be killed!"

Involuntarily Bob changed his irresolute course once more and hurried along at a penitent dog trot to regain the ground he had lost, to pick Jim up. Before Bob could reach him, however, Jim arose and resumed his Golgothic way. Bob fell into step behind him, as before, and admitted to himself with the usual sheepish confusion of an inconsistent cynic that it was not dog-like gratitude, but rather a genuine personal interest and liking that made him "his brother's keeper."

Their way lead sharply upwards now, along the seam of the ridge; and Bob, winded and laboring with wearied legs and feet, marvelled at the inward powers of emotional strength that were keeping the slender young mail clerk forging ahead with no visible slackening of pace or poise. Bob began to fear for Jim mightily; this strained restriction of a flood of grief behind a dam of dazed mentality was bound to result in a fearful cracking of body and soul and mind that might sweep him to death, or worse—in sanity.

Bob was unfamiliar with the topography of the local countryside, but its general conformation here led him to suspect a cliff, after the characteristics of the surrounding territory with which he had become familiar in his short life as a tramp. So he moved up to within arms' length of Jim, and strove to piece the stormy gloom ahead for signs of a drop. It came with a suddenness that nearly fooled him with its alacrity; a gash of deeper blackness in the night underfoot. Bob cried out and plucked Jim back from the edge.

Still Jim was not consciously aware of Bob's presence. He glanced with startled yet unseeing eyes toward him, then unwittingly obeyed the new course, away from immediate danger, into which Bob gently turned him.

Thus, through the night these two men wandered through the barren and storm whipped fields on the shoulders of the supine hills that stretched back of Crater City; Bob following without question the uncanny will of the other except at times when it was necessary to guide him out of danger. And while he climbed and descended, trod and stumbled, on his weary way Bob felt a glow of spiritual exaltation displacing the chill in his veins and confounding the weariness in his body.

Bob was not of a religious turn of mind, but he had been grounded in Biblical fundamentals, and now when the service of human brotherhood was lifting him beyond himself he thrilled to a remembrance of this bereaved lover, walking his life away for his solitary love, to that Young Man who had endured a Passion and Death for all.

These desolate hills of ancient lava were truly Jim Fowler's Gethsemane; his misery was, in fundamentals if not in details, a replica of that Stordied Agony. Like the Apostles of old, Bob had come to watch; but unlike them, he did not go to sleep. In him was born, as the night wore on and the physical pain of watching and following became so acute that he could scarcely move, a realization of the true significance of that Ancient Sacrifice.

Bob saw Jim walk starkly into a tree, stagger back, and fall heavily.

tombs, for Jim Fowler was dead to the sounds of reality, of the storm and the world. He plodded stiffly, chin in, shoulders square and arms by his sides as a corpse might walk—with jerking, cataleptic steps.

Bob clutched up his threadbare coat close to his throat as he followed, for the rain slapping into his face and dribbling down inside his clothes chilled him through and through. He was bareheaded; he had left his cap where he had dropped it—on a chair in the Fowler parlor.

Bob glanced back once in the direction of the little cottage. The only sign of its existence was a pale yellow spot of light glimmering through the cascading windowpane. That bit of light meant interior comfort and warmth, and the hobo choked with selfish selfishness at the spiteful fate that did not stop at wrecking a strange home in order to make him uncomfortable. At least, so it seemed to him, for he had acquired a personal injury complex. Life was always closing doors in his face.

What silly trick of Fate was it that had turned him, outcast and pariah, to participation in an affair of human experience that was none of his business? What mechanism of social intercourse was it that kept his feet plodding after a stranger he had not known by sight or word until a brief hour before? Bob stopped in his tracks. It struck him as sheer nonsense that he should be following this man, like a derelict guardian angel.

The hobo philosophy of Potts and of Spike and their kind occurred to him: "What the hell difference does anything make?" What difference, indeed? The thing he wanted most now was an obscure but sheltered nook in the freight yards; a barrel or a shanty, preferably near the vicarious heat of the locomotives' dumping pit, safe from trainmen's sticks and boots.

The methodical housewife usually does her house shopping in the morning, as soon after stores are open as possible. On Saturday morning she makes a special order to go to the stores herself at an early hour. Meal planning and preparing, too, are much easier if the housewife makes it a regular habit to take inventory of supplies soon after breakfast, not waiting till an hour or so before the mid-day meal has to be prepared.

WHERE IT STARTED

"A BONE TO PICK"

This phrase originated in a marriage custom of Sicily. The father of the bride hands the bridegroom a bone, saying "Pick this bone; you have undertaken a more difficult task." Apparently married life among the Sicilians did not always run smooth!

Diamond Jubilee Souvenirs Will Be Rushed By Airplane

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7. Plans for a record-speed airplane dash across the continent with the dies for making the Diamond Jubilee souvenir half-dollar coin have been completed by Postmaster James E. Power, chairman of the Federal participation committee of the jubilee organization.

Work Long Hours

According to the acting mint director's advice to Postmaster Power, the dies will be completed at the Philadelphia mint some time during the night of August 10. The die-makers are working twenty-four hours a day to complete the molds for the coins.

Plans Are Precise

Immediately on the last tap of work the dies they will be handed to a waiting automobile driver who will rush them to an aviation field where an airplane will be waiting to carry them to New York.

On Mail Plane

This airplane is expected to connect with the 10 a. m. mail plane out of New York on August 11, which arrives in San Francisco at 5:45 p. m. the following day.

An automobile will be waiting at the air mail flying field here and once landed the dies will be rushed to the San Francisco mint and the task of striking 300,000 of the coins for distribution all over the world.

First Coin Important

There will be a special ceremony by civic leaders in connection with the minting and disposal of the first coin.

Permission has been obtained for auctioning it off on the steps of the mint, and the auction will probably be held as a great public ceremony, according to Frank E. Carroll, chairman of the lighting and decorating committee, which will have charge of the sale of the coins. They will sell for $1 each and are expected to net $150,000, which will be expended on decorative lighting.

17,000 Mile Science Trip Wins South Sea Secrets

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, Aug. 7. The British barquentine St. George, which left England with a party of scientists fourteen months ago on a great voyage of discovery, in the South Seas, limped into Balboa, Panama, yesterday, short of food and coal after cruising 17,000 miles in the past six months.

The world's knowledge of the flora, fauna, and archeology of the obscure islands in the Pacific is expected to be increased considerably by the St. George's romantic quest, while the fascinating theories of the position of hidden gold in Cocos Island, the haunt of buccaners, may now be proved.

Women Scientists

Two women scientists are on board—Mrs. Cheeseman, curator of insects at the Zoo, and Miss Longfield, F. Z. S. The cruise of the St. George was organized by the Scientific Expeditionary Research Association and is in charge of Commander David Blair.

Easter Island, Cook Islands, Tahiti, the Marquesas, the last stronghold of cannibalism in the Eastern Pacific, Galapagos and the Azores are some of the places which have been explored. A secret island in the Pacific has also been found by the expedition.

Sculptured rocks and carvings, ancient pottery, and all the signs of an ancient civilization were found on this island, which is believed to have once formed part of a lost continent.

Evidence that buccaners had inhabited the island were also discovered.

Pirate Race

Other astonishing reports of the St. George's discoveries have already reached England, including an account of a mysterious race descended from the pirates of Queen Elizabeth's day.

Reports have been received that the officials of the expedition and the crew of fifty-eight were all well.

The St. George left Tahiti on March 19. On April 12 she was sighted off Rapa Island in the Austral Islands by the liner Remuera. Thence she was bound for Easter Island, and from Easter Island to Panama. She has called at no ports in the meantime and has been completely out of touch with civilization. The St. George may possibly return home with her secrets—which are jealously guarded—this year.

TROUT BITING FOR ANGLERS AT YOSEMITE

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Aug. 7.

Booth Lake, ten thousand feet above sea level, has turned out to be Yosemite's best trout fishing hole this season. Anglers, using flies as lures, are pulling out eighteen and twenty inch trout in plenty.

Booth Lake is reached from Tuolumne Meadows, by foot or on horseback, in about six hours. A big Sierra hiker's camp is operated at the lake by the Yosemite Park and Curry Company, thus relieving trout seekers of the necessity of carrying anything but their rods and lines. Simple accommodations and plain meals are furnished for seventy-five cents, either for meals or for a cot overnight. No fishing tackle is available there, however, and anglers are advised to bring plenty of their own.

Trout fishing along the Tuolumne Meadows is continuing good, right through the season. Dozens of trout fans are making camps in the Meadows for their families or are locating wives and kiddies at Tuolumne Meadows Lodge, while they try a different stream or lake each day, walking out from the Lodge. Down the Tuolumne River in the direction of Waterwheel Falls is the favorite fishing ground.

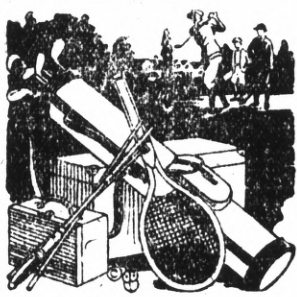

Anglers who want variety are the tour of the hikers camps maintained by the Yosemite Park and Curry Company. This trip offers five days of fine scenery and good trout fishing in as many different streams and lakes as the angler desires to try.

And now it is a radio beauty contest. The Radio World's Fair to be held in the 25th Field Artillery Armory, New York, from September 14 to 19 inclusive is sponsor of the competition. Every Diana of the air is eligible. In every state of the Union there are thousands of beautiful radio fans who might qualify as the fair mistress of the exclusive DX station. The feminine broadcast listener who presents by letter the most impressive accredited log of stations along with a short story of her experiences as a BCL will be adjudged the winner. The first prize will be a silver cup and an invitation to come to New York City as guest of honor at the Second Radio World's Fair with all expenses paid. The cup presentation will be one of the big features of the opening night of the Second Radio World's Fair. Cups suitably engraved will be awarded the second and third best log. A photograph of the fair broadcast listener at her radio set is required. The pictures will be exhibited in the DX Hall of Fame at the Fair.

AROUND WORLD IN AUTO

M. H. Crawford, veteran glob-trotter, who is now in an automobile trip around the world, was a visitor in Richmond this week. Crawford, whose main purpose of the tour is to make photographs of strange and unusual scenes all over the world, has already made 13 trips to Asiatic lands.

Starting from Yosemite Valley the first night can be spent in Little Yosemite Valley, where the fishing is good, just above Nevada Falls. The next night can be spent at Merced Lake Lodge, from which good fishing can be found not only in Merced Lake, but in Washburn and Bernice Lakes, nearby. The third night's stand is Booth Lake, already described. The fourth night stop is at Tuolumne Meadows, and the fifth at Tonaya Lake, where trout are plentiful. The trip can be made easily on foot or horseback, and meals and accommodations are available at low cost at each place mentioned.

Backache Is a Warning!

Richmond Folks are Learning
How to Heed It.

Are you miserable with an aching back? Then you should help your kidneys. Back ache is often the first sign of failing kidneys. Urinary troubles quickly follow. Neglected, there's danger of gravel, dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Don't wait for serious kidney sickness. Use Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, before it is too late. This Richmond resident tells an experience:

F. Roberts, deputy sheriff, 542 Tenth St., says: "I had an attack of kidney trouble and severe backache and soreness over my kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly.
Doan's soon fixed me up in good shape, however, and rid me of the backaches. I have come to depend on them, if I have the least sign of kidney trouble, and they are sure to give me prompt relief."

Mr. Roberts is only one of many Richmond people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S PILLS, the same that Mr. Roberts had—the remedy backed by home testimony—60 cents at all dealers.

Civil Service Commission Is In Market for More Examiners

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 7.—Announcement has been made by the State Civil Service Commission that an examination for examiner, state corporation department, grade 4, and supervising examiner, grade 5, will be held at Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles on August 22, 1925. The salary range of examiner Grade 4, from $200.00 to $250.00 per month, and for supervising examiner, grade 5, from $265.00 to $325.00 per month.

Newspapermen Apply.
The Civil Service Commission has been receiving applications for this examination from all parts of California, and it is noted that newspapermen, reporters, editors and financial writers are showing great interest in the positions by applying.

Gather Evidence.
The duties of examiner in the State Corporation department are to make financial and credit investigations and investigations into the activities of the corporations, brokers, promoters, agents and other individuals coming within the jurisdiction of the Corporation Securities Act. They are expected to unearth evidence for presentation to district attorneys and grand juries for the prosecution of violators of the law. Their investigations cover the wide field of the operations of brokers and promoters, running down the trails of fraudulent promoters and promotions.

What Is Needed.

Under the Civil Service rules applicants must have education equivalent to graduation from high school or three years experience in making credit or financial investigations, or three consecutive years of experience on the editorial staff of a newspaper.
They must possess knowledge of the Corporation Securities Act, know what constitutes fraud and misrepresentation and be familiar with newspaper practice, and advertising methods.
They must have sound business judgment, tact, and integrity.

Many Openings.
It is announced that positions of examiner will be open in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento and appointments will be made as fast as possible.

Commissioner of Corporations Edwin M. Daugherty today announced that he desires to have as high type and wide awake men as possible take this examination, because the positions must be held by men of sound judgment and ability, as the work to be done is one of the most important in the Corporation department.
Further particulars concerning the positions may be obtained from the Civil Service Commission, Forum Building, Sacramento, or from the Corporation Department, California Fruit Building, Sacramento.

"Wild Horse" Is Sensation On Roach Picture

"Black Cyclone" is a photo-dramatic piece of unusual character. If there were such a thing as a National Film Library wherein pictures of worth could be placed, one shelf might be kept for this Hal Roach production starring Rex, the wild horse, which opened at the California Theatre yesterday, remaining until tonight.

Rex, whose screen debut was in "The King of Wild Horses," over a year ago, again proves that he not only has a screen personality, but is an actor of no mean power. The camera shots of Rex and the other wild horses are magnificent; the action is tremendously thrilling; add the story is intriguingly enthralling.
The marvel of "Black Cyclone" is in its direction by Fred Jackman, for as the picture unfolds, the horses enact its story, which is by Hal Roach, with rare ability. They always appear to do the right thing, and they do it extremely well. Every body who had a hand in the film must be a lover of horseflesh, for these animals are directed with a tender hand. There is also a love story between humans, but it is the horses who run off with highest honors.

Other features on the same program include "Balto's Race to Nome," the most thrilling race to save human lives, by man and dogs, ever filmed; "Beware," a Mermaid comedy; "International News," Larry Canelo, at the organ.

RECOVERING HEALTH

Dr. C. L. Abbott, who recently underwent a serious operation at the Stanford hospital, San Francisco, is reported to be rapidly recovering.

"Beauty Prize" Shows Charms Of Miss Dana

Comedy, drama, Viola Dana, and girls, girls, girls! That's the description of the Metro-Goldwyn star's latest picture, "The Beauty Prize," which opened last night at the Richmond theatre, and a delightful entertaining picture it is too!

Miss Dana appears as a New York mauerist, who wins the national beauty title of "Miss American" and then gives away the $2,000 prize money she needs so badly. The star is peppier than ever, and certainly looks as if she could win any beauty contest anywhere. Pat O'Malley is splendid as the hero.

Between the scenes showing the contest, with a bunch of pretty girls competing, and the really excellent story by Nina Wilcox Putnam, last night's audience manifested in no uncertain terms that "The Beauty Prize" can well be called "perfect entertainment."

Lloyd Ingraham directed and Winifred Dunn wrote the continuity. John Arnold was the photographer.

Other features on the same program include the fifth thrilling chapter of "Days of '49" featuring Neva Gerber and Edmund Cobb; "No Fooling," it's a comedy wow.

STAGE SET FOR SHADE-SCHOELL GO

CONDITION OF PARTICIPANTS NEAR PERFECT

Both Fighters to Be Within Welterweight Limit When They Weigh In Today

SHADE STILL BIG FAVORITE

Twenty Rounds of Preliminaries To Key Fans Up For Main Attraction

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The stage is set, the boxers are ready and everything that goes to make tonight the greatest night of pugilism in California is in order, for the Dave Shade-Frankie Schoell ten-round contest at the local ball park. Enthusiasm is intense; in fact, there is more talk about the welterweight contest than any that has taken part in this city since the game was reopened last January.

Shade and Schoell are in perfect condition and close to the welterweight limit. Two better-conditioned athletes have never been seen in action before in this city. There's a reason for this. The winner will meet Mickey Walker for the welterweight title.

Promoters Herman and Scaler have some real preliminaries on their card. They follow:

Frankie Farren vs. Lew Pauso, lightweight, 10 rounds.

Teddy Seidman vs. Rufe Canion, featherweights, 6 rounds.

Angel de La Cruz vs. Sydney White, bantams, 4 rounds.

Bobby Johnson will referee the main event; Jimmy Burke the semi-windup; Fred Bottaro of Sacramento the special event, and Fred Landera the curtain-raiser.

Betting on the contest still continues at 10 to 8, with Shade the favorite.

The advance sale is the best of the season, but there are still some choice seats to be bought.

The attendance promises to be the largest that has seen a bout in this city.

FOUR STARS TO PLAY FOR U.S. FOR DAVIS CUP

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—America has called upon four veteran Davis cup warriors for defense of the international tennis trophy held here for four consecutive years.

Tentative selection of William Tilden, Vincent Richards, William M. Johnston and R. Norris Williams to represent this country in the challenge round, announced yesterday, gathers behind the nation's net fortifications a quartet which tennis experts feel is almost certain to keep to famous trophy here.

SINGLES TO DECIDE

Definite appointment of the players to singles and doubles assignments has been deferred until after the last west matches, scheduled to open today at the West Side courts, Forest Hills, N. Y. A singles battle between Richards and Johnston tomorrow will be one of the deciding factors in the assignment of players.

It was on the basis of his victory in such a match last year that Richards earned the right to play second to Tilden in the singles, and his brilliant performances at Seabright last week and at Forest Hills this week indicate that he will again make a strong bid for number two position.

OLD STARS SHINE

Tilden and Johnston are looked upon as the prospective Davis cup doubles combination as a result of their victory over Richards and Williams in the third and deciding match of a test series yesterday before the selection committee.

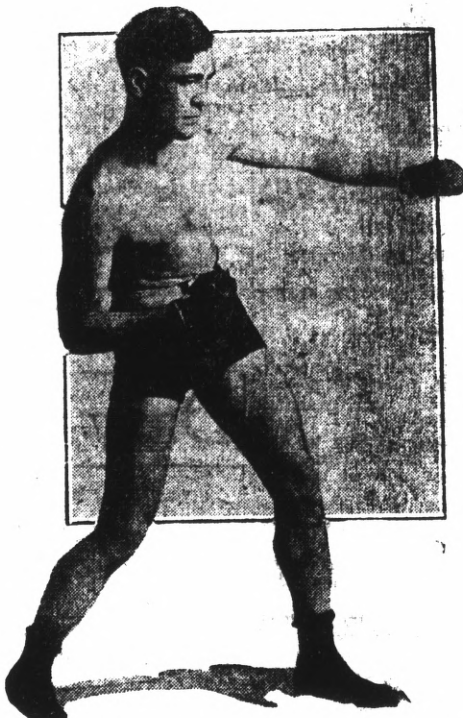

After winning play, the Yonkers youth and his partner bowed to the terrific service and matchless deep court play of the national champion and the veteran from the Pacific coast. The score of the match was 6-6, 6-1, 8-6, 6-4.

JOHNSON BRILLIANT

Johnson was particularly brilliant. His service was unusually severe, his driving off service terrific and his volleying superb.

In addition to the Richards-Johnston match on Saturday, Ray Casey, West, will face George Lott, East; Williams, East, will oppose Howard Kinsey, West, and Francis T. Hunter, East, will match strokes with Robert Kinsey, West. Alonso and

FRANKIE SCHOELL, ONE OF BUFFALO'S TOPNOTCHERS WILL BE SEEN IN ACTION AT RECREATION TONIGHT

Frankie Schoell hails from the empire state and is one of the best right to meet Walker for the welterweight crown. The wisecracker has placed Shade as a ten to eight favorite over this man.

By DAVE SHADE

That I will defeat Frankie Schoell tonight is a foregone conclusion so far as I am concerned. I never felt better in my life and I am overflowing with confidence. Confidence is half the battle and the right hand that stopped Jimmy Slatery is the other half. I don't fear I will knock out Schoell. At any rate I figure that I should win the decision.

King, East, play Casey and Hennessey, West, in the only doubles encounter.

SAN LEANDRO—Legion Memorial hall to be remodeled at estimate cost of $20,000; $15,000 annex planned.

Channel Swim Again Delayed

BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 7.—Announcement was made this morning that the attempt of Miss Gertrude Ederle, the American girl swimmer, to swim across the English channel from the French to the English coast, has been postponed until August 17. Although there was a change in the weather this morning, making conditions for a channel swim none too propitious, Miss Lillian Harrison, the Argentine girl, may still start in accordance with her plans, tonight.

Arrangements had been made for Miss Ederle to start tonight from the English Coast, about 10:30, about ten minutes before Miss Harrison, but she became unexpectedly, physically indisposed and her trainers and advisers recommended postponement until the next favorable tide, which is on August 17.

By FRANKIE SCHOELL

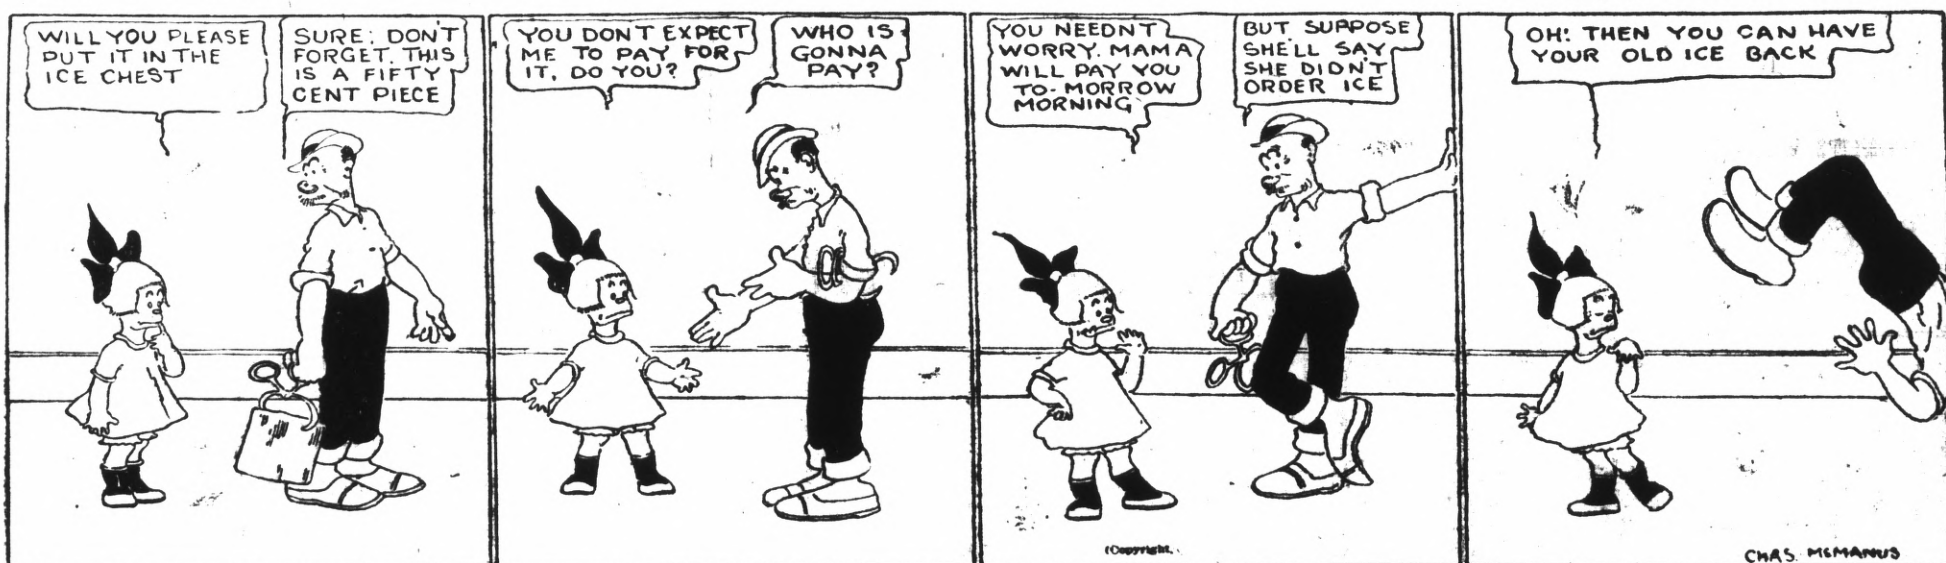

I have battled Dave Shade three times before, winning the first out and Shade the other two. Tonight I will even up matters by trouncing the boxer, who knocked out my friend, Jimmy Slatery. Surely Shade can't be in better condition, for I trained much longer than he has for this bout. I don't fear his right hand. I know how he fights and he hasn't changed since then to any great degree.

Crimes of Violence Swelled By Recent Records of Britain

By HAYDEN TALBOT
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 7.—At a time when the total of all crimes in England is greater than before the war the number of imprisonments is very much smaller. Statistics just published prove this astonishing fact, and suggest the remarkable changes that are now being made in the treatment of crime in this country.

Since the war, it is stated in the latest report on criminal statistics issued by the home office, there has been a great increase in "crimes of dishonesty accompanied by violence." Behavior of this kind has increased so extensively as to raise the total of all crimes. Frauds and commercial dishonesty have also flourished.

The number of crimes in England which "came to the knowledge of the police" in 1923 (the last year for which figures are available) was actually 110,206—the highest total recorded during the 67 years in which statistics have been compiled. In 1913 the total was 97,933.

It is true that if the increase in population since then is taken into account, the average behavior of English folk can be made to look better, but even if the proportions per 100,000 of the population are taken, the figure is 265 in 1923, compared with 287 in 1913.

As for the other side of the picture, only figures can show the astonishing contrast between the amount of crime and the number of imprisonments. For the five years ended 1913-14 the average yearly "total receptions on conviction" into prisons were 158,782. By 1923-24 in spite of the number of crimes being approximately the same, the total had dropped to 46,135.

Why Men Go to Jail.

The number of crimes "known to the police" hardly gives, of course, a fair basis for comparison with the number of imprisonments. Not every known crime gets as far as the police court. But on the whole it remains broadly true that there is now an ever-widening gap between crime and prison.

The following table shows the remarkable fall in the number of receptions into prison for certain offenses—a fall which is not reflected in the same proportion in the number of similar offenses committed:

Crimes Listed.	1913-14	1923-24
Larceny, embezzlement, false pretenses, etc.	19,126	12,129
Burglary, housebreakings, etc.	1,969	1,734
Assaults	8,666	3,083
Drunkenness, etc.	51,851	11,425
Prostitution	7,952	1,209
Breach of police regulations	8,661	1,778
Begging and sleeping out	15,019	3,046

Probable Causes.

One of the chief explanations of the big drop in the prison population since the war would seem to be found in the good use made by magistrates of the new powers given them by Parliament. A warning tribute is paid by the Prison Commissioners to the increasing care which is shown in investigating the circumstances of offenders and avoiding commitments to prison. Although courts differ and some magistrates still hesitate to make the great experiment, it would seem that there is on the whole a general determination to have all who can be saved from a prison career.

Expert Warns Of Perils In Good Business

OAKLAND, Aug. 7.—"Prosperity is a hard thing for the American business man to face," asserted James Mathews, director of the economic bureau of the Babson Institute, Wellesley, Mass., before the weekly luncheon meeting of the Oakland Rotary club yesterday.

"The employer, the employee, the consumer and all concerned are apt to be misled by momentary prosperity and go on a commercial 'foot'," said Mathews. "American business men are afflicted with a dollar psychology. They think in terms of dollars rather than in terms of commodities. This is a wrong and narrow attitude of exchange, while business is still the bartering of service for commodities or service for service, or commodities for commodities with money as the intervening incidental medium."

Secretary of East Contra Costa Chamber of Commerce Plans Display

COUNTY ALLOTTED SHOW SPACE

Walnuts, Pears, Grapes, Apples
Grains and Vegetables to Be Shown

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 7.—Contra Costa looms large in the list of counties to make exhibits at the California State Fair at Sacramento, September 5 to 13, according to Geo. P. Upham, of Brentwood, secretary of the East Contra Costa Chamber of Commerce.

Upham was a visitor to the fair grounds today to look over the display space assigned to his county. There will be some changes in the setting of the exhibit, he said, such as the employment of a redwood facade and the pyramid group effect for the display.

In addition to an impressive showing of walnuts, pears, apples, and almonds, stress will be laid this year upon Contra Costa's importance as a producer of grapes, grains and vegetables.

Assisting Upham in the collection and installation of the exhibit is Mrs. N. F. Sanderson, who has served in this capacity for the past four years.

Entertainment is a necessity for the relaxation of the people in the task of carrying on the world's business.

Motion pictures give this entertainment, and in so doing have passed the bounds of all languages. They are today the universal method of entertainment, acquainting all the peoples of the world with their neighbors.

These were the statements made yesterday by Barrett Kiesling of Culver City, speaker at the Richmond Rotary club. Kiesling is the personal representative of Cecil De Mille, director and producer of numberless motion pictures.

Kiesling told of the various stages of the producing, financing, distributing and exhibiting the movies, in a talk that is said to be the best of the year before the club.

In the old days, the speaker said, the financing of pictures was the hardest proposition of the producers met. In late years, however, this is a small matter, as the public realizes the possibilities of the field.

Kiesling was secured as a speaker through the efforts of Fred Beck, chairman of the day. Beck was highly complimented by the members on his good program. Violin numbers were rendered by Ward McCracken.
